

TWF and the Oxbridge Women's Network Present An Inspirational Lunch with Mrs Rhiannon Wilkinson, Headmistress of Wycombe Abbey on October 27, 2014

Mrs Wilkinson will talk about:

- Her life and career since leaving Oxford
- The benefits of a single sex education for girls
- Preparing girls for Oxbridge

ABOUT THE SPEAKER:

Rhiannon Wilkinson became Headmistress of Wycombe Abbey in September 2013. She has a broad and detailed knowledge of education, having worked both in the maintained and independent sectors, day and boarding, and in two international schools in Hong Kong and Brunei. Born and brought up in Manchester, Rhiannon attended a girls' grammar school before graduating from St Hugh's College, Oxford in Modern History. She also holds a PGCE (Post Graduate Certificate in Education) from the University of Bath, and completed an MEd in Educational Leadership and Management at the University of Manchester.
